

RAIL STATION FOR TOWN ON TRACK

Network Rail chiefs tell MP 'progress is being made on government's promise'

WORK is progressing on the campaign for Skelmersdale Train Station with MP Rosie Cooper meeting Network Rail chiefs who told her 'rail is the right solution for transport in and out of Skelmersdale'.

It has been 12 months since Boris Johnson announced that Skelmersdale Railway Station will be built.

Ms Cooper has since written to the Prime Minister and Transport Secretary seeking reassurance that the project is still on track.

Responding, Rail Minister Chris Heaton-Harris confirmed to Ms Cooper that Department for Transport officials met with Lancashire County Council counterparts to discuss the work the council commissioned to assess the scheme.

Minister Heaton-Harris further stated 'LCC expect to conclude the SOBC (Strategic Outline Business Case) in the first quarter of 2021 and we look forward to discussing it with them in the anticipation that they will wish to seek government funding.'

The MP commented: "I have taken every opportunity to lobby Ministers, ask questions in Parliament and make the case for a railway station in Skelmersdale."

"Many Skelmersdale residents feel isolated and forgotten and think the railway station will never be built. A railway station in the heart of Skelmersdale will open up a world of economic and social opportunities for the town and its residents.

"I also met with officials from Network Rail on Friday who briefed me about the progress being made on the Strategic Outline Business Case working with Lancashire County Council and engineers Mott MacDonald."

"It was good news to hear that investigations have shown that rail is the right solution for transport in and out of Skelmersdale and ruling out other options such as light rail or a parkway some miles from the town."

"Receiving confirmation from the Transport Minister, who I will be meeting with today (Wednesday), that his department's officials are in discussions with LCC show just how high up the agenda this is for all the partners involved."

"I have also written to the Lancashire County Council Chief Executive seeking a formal update on progress, as the business case is due for completion early in the new year.

"It is inconceivable that in the 21st Century, a town with a population of 38,000, is served only by infrequent buses and where residents who don't own cars can't easily go about their daily lives, work, shop or enjoy visits to theatres and cinemas in nearby towns such as Liverpool and Manchester."

"This railway station will mean that West Lancashire constituents will no longer be isolated from 21st Century Britain."

Toys and gifts are being collected now for Claire House Children's Hospice and The Liberty Centre

By Danielle Thompson

THE kind-hearted team at MLS Independent Funeral Directors are collecting toys and gifts for their two chosen charities, Claire House Children's Hospice and The Liberty Centre.

Staff at the firm, based on Moss Delph Lane in Aughton and Liverpool Road North in Burscough said: "With your help, we can try to give others a Christmas that they will want to remember.

"Due to the current situation the charities have asked for all the toys and gifts to be new and unused.

"If you would like to donate please contact us to organise a time to drop the gifts off to a member of staff."

The Liberty Centre is a charity which has been established for more than 30 years, starting off providing emergency refuge accommodation for women fleeing domestic violence and abuse.

Over the years, further services have been added including supporting survivors of domestic abuse in the refuge, in their homes or in the community, supporting women and children, supporting male victims, offering counselling, providing legal support, doing preventative work, running support groups and offering training.

Would you like to make a toy donation?

The organisation has an Information Centre in Ormskirk with a 'walk-in' service and can also accommodate nine women and children in their refuge which is located in the West Lancashire area.

Claire House Children's Hospice helps seriously and terminally ill children live life to the full by creating wonderful experiences and bringing back a sense of normality to family life.

Contact the MLS team on 01695 424888 (Aughton) or 01704 891555 (Burscough) for more information.

Drainage repair work underway on problem gullies in Burscough

DRAINAGE repair works has started on Mill Lane in Burscough.

After the heavy flooding in August this year, which forced some residents of Mill Lane out of their homes, Rosie Cooper MP formally wrote to Lancashire County Council, Persimmon and United Utilities also to request a full investigation and remedial works.

The council confirmed two gullies had been cut off and would not run as they have damaged connections.

LCC suspected the connections were damaged during the ground-work for the Persimmon development.

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper commented: "Having written to the agencies including Lancashire County Council, United Utilities and Persimmon Homes, I am pleased that repair works to gullies believed to have been damaged by Persimmon are now underway.

"This should never have happened in the first place but Persimmon have now agreed to provide a financial contribution to cover the cost of the works which will be undertaken by LCC.

"I am told that works commenced on Monday, December 7 and are scheduled for completion on December 18.

"While these works alone will not resolve the Burscough-wide flooding issues, I hope this will alleviate flooding in this area, relieve some pressure on the wider system and I will continue to demand United Utilities invest in infrastructure upgrade in Burscough."

Alice with staff and pupils at Crow Orchard

Staff and pupils mark Down Syndrome Awareness Month

STAFF and pupils at Crow Orchard Primary School in Skelmersdale welcomed a pupil with Down Syndrome to the 'Little Pips Nursery' to mark Down Syndrome Awareness Month and celebrate their 'little superstar, Alice'.

Katie Spence, who works at the school, said: "We held a day where the children wore blue and yellow to raise money for a Down Syndrome Awareness charity.

"As a school, we also spent time learning Makaton in our class bubbles so we could sign along to the song 'You've got a friend in me' by Randy Newman. Makaton is a unique language programme that uses symbols, signs and speech to enable people to communicate.

"We filmed this and turned it into a music video which has been published on You Tube, which you can find through our school Facebook page."

Nursery teacher Emma Fitzsimons added: "We celebrated the last day of the autumn term raising money and awareness for Down Syndrome in line with the awareness month.

"This term, Crow Orchard Little Pips Nursery welcomed a superstar called Alice, who has Down Syndrome. Alice is a pleasure to have in our nursery and we are so happy that Alice's family chose us. Alice uses Makaton sign language so we thought a wonderful way to welcome Alice into the school, would be to get the whole school involved in a short video using Makaton to sign along to 'You've got a friend in me'."

Funding for hospital sites

Trusts were provided an initial allocation based on need and were asked to put forward suitable projects that would deliver maximum impact and the best value for money, and could be completed by March 2021.

The money is part of a £1.5 billion announced by the Prime Minister in the summer to level up hospital infrastructure across the NHS. While £600 million will be spent on these critical maintenance upgrades, the remainder will be spent on modernising mental health facilities, expanding A&E capacity and improving infection control ahead of winter.

Southport MP Damien Moore said: "I am delighted that Southport & Ormskirk NHS Hospital Trust will benefit from Government funding to carry out vital maintenance work over the coming months.

"These crucial projects will deliver immediate benefits and provide NHS staff with the facilities they need to provide world-class care to patients, helping our NHS to build back better after the pandemic."

Also commenting, Health Secretary Matt Hancock said: "Alongside delivering on our manifesto commitment to build 40 new hospitals and 20 major hospital upgrades across the country, this investment will help our NHS build back better.

"These crucial maintenance projects will deliver immediate benefits and provide NHS staff with the facilities they need to provide world-class care to their patients this winter, helping ensure the NHS is always there for you when you need it."

Testing to be rolled out across the county for people without Covid symptoms

Report by Henry James

TESTING for people without Covid symptoms has been agreed for Lancashire, which it is hoped will "help to reduce the spread and protect people".

Up to a third of people may display no symptoms, but are still infectious. Health officials have said it's vital to break these chains of transmission, so infection rates can be brought down and some normality can return for people and businesses.

More details will be announced in the coming days and weeks about how people can access these tests in the county, as the programme is rolled out.

Known as a Lateral Flow Test, the results can be given in around 30 minutes, as they don't need to go to a laboratory for testing.

This method of testing is similar to Liverpool, but will focus on working with communities and areas with high numbers of infections, in order to try to bring rates down and help the move to a lower tier of restrictions. Wider public testing is planned as part of the later stages.

The tests are not compulsory, but people are encouraged to get a test if offered one. Health officials have said: "This is one way we can all do our bit and help to get our lives and the economy in Lancashire back on track."

A "sustained" programme will be carried out over the next few months, including more local contact tracing, as well as additional support for communities and individuals who are struggling.

This new testing programme is being co-ordinated by the Lancashire Resilience Forum, and involves logistics support from the army. It is part of the government's national drive to continue to increase testing capability.

The Lancashire Resilience Forum brings together support including the police, fire, local authorities and health, to respond effectively to the Covid pandemic.

Angie Ridgwell, chair of the LRF said: "By testing people who aren't showing symptoms, we can help to reduce the spread of infection in Lancashire. We'll be increasing the number of tests over the coming weeks, as more venues become involved.

"Across Lancashire, our public sector organisations are working together to support and protect the public by reducing the spread of the virus. A lot of very complex work has already been taking place to understand the testing that we need, ahead of this programme being rolled out.

"It is really important we continue to disrupt the virus, even though we now have a vaccine. It will take time to get everyone vaccinated and while that takes place we remain at risk of getting Coronavirus.

"Testing is still important and remains one of our key defences to tackle the virus. We remind people to keep following the guidance to keep each other safe – hands, face, space."

As part of a pilot programme, similar testing has already been taking place in Lancashire County Council-run day centres, some fire stations and at Myer-scough College.

If people have symptoms, then they can book a free test by calling 119, book online at www.gov.uk/get-coronavirus-test or through the government's NHS Covid app: www.nhs.uk/apps-library/nhs-covid-19.

Edge Hill staff and students tackle the blues

THE team at an award-winning mental health programme, Tackling the Blues, has appointed six new recruits to grow activities at a time when mental health has never been more important.

Delivered by Edge Hill University, Everton in the Community and Tate Liverpool, the programme promotes mental health in education through sports, physical activity and the arts.

Tackling the Blues is delivered by students and staff across Edge Hill's Department of Sport and Physical Activity and Faculty of Education and, since its launch in 2015, has engaged with almost 1,000 young people across Merseyside and West Lancashire.

Funding for the new recruits follows on from a £527,000 funding award from the Office for Students and Research England earlier this year in recognition of the vital impact it has on the student experience. The programme received the award for demonstrating the benefits it brings to students, graduates and external partners through involvement in knowledge exchange activities.

Emily McCurrie has joined Edge Hill's Faculty of Education as the Partnership Development and Engagement Manager and will spend the first two years of her post leading the operational activity of Tackling the Blues.

Emily will focus on developing partnership engagement with schools and education providers to create opportunities for student employability, work experience and enrichment activities.

Tate Liverpool has appointed Dr Emma Curd and Phil McClure as Tackling the Blues Coordinators to oversee the development and delivery of the new arts strand and they will work to encourage young people to use art as a tool to explore, understand and aid their emotional health and wellbeing.

Everton in the Community has recruited James

Members of the Tackling the Blues team

Ratcliffe as a new Tackling the Blues Coordinator to help develop the programme's sports and physical activity strand while Edge Hill has recruited two research assistants, Rachel Wilcock and Aston Monro, who will be responsible for measuring the impact of the programme on children and young people and will evaluate how student mentors benefit from knowledge exchange opportunities.

Professor of Sport and Physical Activity, Andy Smith, and Dr Helen O'Keeffe, from the Faculty of Education, both lead on the project at Edge Hill. Prof Smith said: "It is fantastic to be expanding our team as we reach such a significant point in the programme's journey."

"To date, Tackling the Blues has engaged with a thousand young people across Merseyside and West Lancashire with the aim to positively impact the lives and mental health of our communities. We are looking forward to extending our reach and influence to help even more children and young people in the region to promote mental, physical and emotional literacy and improve their self-esteem and confidence, with the help of our student community."

Charity looking for support in aid of 'Xmas Party Heroes' campaign

RAINBOW Hub, the Mawdesley based charity, supporting children and young people with physical and neurological disabilities, is hoping for support from local companies through the Xmas Party Heroes campaign.

This initiative was originally set up to encourage companies to support charities who are facing difficult times caused by Covid-19.

The idea is that they donate funds that would have been used for staff Christmas parties which cannot now take place due to the pandemic.

The Xmas Party Heroes web site <https://xmaspartyheroes.co.uk> is funded by two founder companies and does not take any fees or commission. All donations go straight to the chosen charity.

Rainbow Hub has already had a donation of more than £3,000 from Wainhomes and hopes that more local companies will also join the campaign and support them by donating, no matter how small, the cost of what would usually be spent on Christmas parties, secret Santa gifts or Christmas cards.

If a company would like to get involved and support them, then they should visit the web site <https://www.rainbowhub.org/get-involved/donate/> and let Rainbow Hub know they have donated and become #XmasPartyHeroes.

Joan Higham, Aughton WI president with the goods donated for the Ormskirk Food Bank

Members of WI support Ormskirk Food Bank appeal

AUGHTON WI supports a chosen local charity each Christmas time, and this year it was agreed that the Ormskirk Food Bank was the charity that needed their support.

Although all members of Aughton WI were enthusiastic to fill bags with the food types the Food Bank needed, the local community were invited to also support this fundraising effort and use the WI meeting hall, 'The Hut' as a drop off point.

The response was incredible! In November, the WI received more than 120 bags of food from both WI members and the local community - this equates to 495kgs of food.

One young lady, Hannah Dykes, a 14-year-old who attends St Bede's School was completing her 'Faith in Action' by collecting Christmas chocolates. She brought a number of bags to the WI to add to the collection for the food bank.

So impressed with the response, the WI held another collection day for Ormskirk Food Bank on December 8. The response was again remarkable by receiving another 100 bags of food.

Joan Higham, Aughton WI president, wished to thank everyone for their generous donations. She said: "As President of Aughton WI, I am constantly impressed how our members get behind all our fundraising events which always have in a terrific result."

"This is the first time we opened our fundraising to our local community and I am overwhelmed with the response. Thank you all so very much!"

Housebuilder gives Skelmersdale Food Bank festive £150 cash boost as well as goodies

AS part of a wider series of donations to Trussell Trust food banks across the North West, housebuilder Bellway has made a financial donation of £150 to the Skelmersdale Food Bank.

After a difficult year and with the festive holiday fast approaching, the cash will go towards supporting the foodbank to provide emergency food parcels to people in need in Skelmersdale and the surrounding areas in the run-up to Christmas.

Working to stop hunger and poverty, the Trussell Trust is a national network of food banks that is run by volunteers and provides emergency food and additional support to people in crisis all year round.

The Trussell Trust's Skelmersdale Food Bank operates from the Ecumenical Centre on Northway and is run by a passionate team of volunteers who work tirelessly to fundraise for the food bank and ensure emergency food parcels are received by those in need.

Project manager at the Skelmersdale Food Bank, Tim Bleazard, said: "While recent support for food banks has been fantastic, we rely on continual donations of food or financial support from companies or individuals within our local community to deliver our vital service on an ongoing basis."

"We are grateful for support of any kind, and Bellway's kind donation will enable us to purchase additional food parcels this month and further ease the pressure on some of the vulnerable in our community this Christmas."

To make a donation to the local food bank, visit www.trusselltrust.org.

Railway passengers urged to plan ahead

Report by Henry James

PASSENGERS using the railway in the North West are being asked to plan ahead of the Christmas holiday as Network Rail will be upgrading many tracks and working to improve overhead lines.

Over Christmas and New Year Network Rail will be carrying out dozens of projects on its North West route to "improve future journeys for passengers and freight".

This includes track upgrades in Preston and Manchester and work to improve the overhead lines which power trains in Liverpool and Crewe.

Chris Pye, infrastructure director for the North West, said: "While much of the railway will be open before and after Christmas I'd still urge people to plan ahead by visiting www.nationalrail.co.uk."

"Remember to follow government guidelines and wear a face covering when travelling unless you are exempt for medical reasons."

"These essential railway upgrades across the North West and Cumbria will improve performance for passengers and freight and help to play its part in Britain building back better from the pandemic."

"Our frontline workers have continued to work tirelessly throughout the pandemic to maintain and upgrade the railway for those who need it and this festive period will be no different, with hundreds of workers out delivering significant improvements across the North West route."

In the North West and Central region - which runs from Euston and Marylebone in London, to Scotland via the West Midlands and North West - £31.3 million is being invested in new track, bridges and overhead electric lines which power trains to "improve future journeys".

As part of the government's Christmas travel plan between December 23 and 27, some of these upgrades will start slightly later on Christmas Eve to allow more trains to run.

Rail passengers are being urged to think ahead about their Christmas travel plans

The Government has outlined a series of measures focused on minimising disruption and helping people travel safely over the Christmas period, while urging passengers to plan their journeys carefully, consider quieter routes and where possible book ahead.

Robert Nisbet, director of nations and regions for the Rail Delivery Group, added: "Christmas will be unusual for many and rail companies are doing all they can to bring people together during the government's travel window, but this year more than ever people should not just turn up at a station and hope for the best."

"If people follow the advice to plan ahead and book outward and return reservations for longer journeys, alongside the extra cleaning and better information that are part of our safer travel pledge, everyone should be able to travel with confidence."

Although the vast majority of the network will be open for business in the run up to Christmas, planning ahead is particularly important for those travelling on Boxing Day when there will be a limited service.

Passengers can find out how their Christmas journeys will be affected with their train operator, via National Rail Enquiries, or by following #ChristmasRailWorks on social media site Twitter.

Would you support Santa Paws appeal?

SUPPORT Adoption for Pets and Pets at Home stores have joined forces for their annual Santa Paws Appeal.

Running from now until Christmas Eve (Thursday, December 24), you can support this appeal either when you are shopping for your own furry baby in any Pets at Home Store, or online if you would prefer.

A spokesperson for Woodlands Animal Sanctuary said: "Look out for the hashtag #SantaPaws on social media to see all the wonderful posts about this appeal or visit: www.supportadoptionforpets.co.uk/santa-paws-2020/ to make a donation online if you would rather not visit any Pets at Home Store in person at the moment.

"We are doing everything we can to support this appeal remotely and hope that you will too. We are incredibly grateful to Support Adoption for Pets and Pets at Home who have both supported us a lot over the past few years.

"You may remember that it was thanks to Support Adoption for Pets that we were able to get our brand new cattery earlier this year, after we received an extremely generous grant.

"The team at Woodlands hope you will join the annual Santa Paws appeal because both Support Adoption for Pets and Pets at Home do so much to help animals and because Woodlands are Charity of the Year for the Pets at Home store at Preston Docks, we will also receive 50% of the funds raised that store - which this year especially will be even more gratefully received.

"The remaining money from all donations will be put into the pot that Support Adoption for Pets uses to help charities such as Woodlands with grants throughout the year - an incredibly worthwhile cause, we hope you will agree."

Mountain bike stolen from shed in Ormskirk

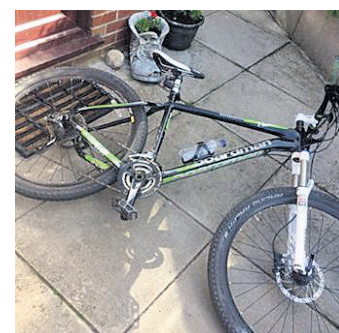

IN the early hours of Friday, December 4, two sheds were broken into at a property on Pennington Avenue in Ormskirk.

There was also a suspicious white van in the area at the time of the burglary, at around 12.20pm.

What do Picasso and Beetles have in common?

Most newer cars have ISOFIX mounting points, but not our motoring man's 22-year-old Toyota

WHAT do Ford's original C-MAX, Volkswagen's Nineties rebirth of the Beetle, and Citroen's Xsara Picasso have in common?

If you've sussed it than you're either a) a bit weird, or b) someone's who's spent time they'd have happily spent watching The Crown frustratingly foraging through online forums aimed at flustered mums. They're all cars that, even though they were flogged at the time as being family-friendly, have been called out for having rear seat-belts that aren't long enough.

Not long enough for accommodating baby seats, that is.

That's the conundrum I came up against when, having had a baby seat bought for me by a kindly relative in the run-up to becoming a dad for the first time, it turned out that the 22-year-old Toyota Avensis on the driveway didn't have sufficient seat-belts either.

To be honest, rear belt length wasn't exactly top of the shopping list when I snapped up the second-hand repmobile to do all the boring jobs I didn't want to entrust the other cars with, but as it's got back seats and a Mazda MX-5 doesn't, it's the Toyota that's been called up for baby-ferrying duties.

A couple of mates reckoned I should chuck it in and get another car with ISOFIX mounting points - meaning that said baby seat would click straight into the car's safety structure - but it seems a tad wasteful swapping an entire car for the sake of one seatbelt.

There are also, if you shop around online, people who will sell you a seatbelt extender for £4.99, but I'd avoid these in the same way you'd avoid walking alone down a dark alleyway while carrying an unopened box clearly marked 'PS5' in your arm. Would you, in the event of an accident, entrust your firstborn's life to an untested seatbelt extender you snapped for £4.99 off some bloke on eBay? Exactly.

Happily, there is another way - there's a company down in Bedford who, if you take the offending seatbelt out and post it off to them, will strip it down, do it properly and replace it with one that is long enough, and then send it straight back to you. It cost £60, plus a tenner or so for recorded delivery - well, you wouldn't want to lose a seatbelt for a 22-year-old car in the post - but the end result was a properly fitting seatbelt, a cute baby who could travel around in safety and comfort, and a dad who didn't have to go out and buy another car.

So there you have it; if you're expecting a little bundle of joy and don't fancy spending a bundle, go and google Safety Belt Services.

That's a whole load of money saved up for the MX-5's respray, then. Sorry, saved up for another cot and pushchair...

Hyundai to honour prices on new cars even in the event of a no-deal Brexit

CAR firm Hynundai has vowed that it'll honour all prices on new cars ordered before the end of the year, even in the event of a no-deal Brexit.

It believes that prices on imported goods, including cars, will go up should the UK leave without a trade deal, but it's said it will protect prices for both retail and fleet orders, even on cars, such as Motability vehicles, which are unlikely to be delivered until early next year.

Help Us Help You to stay well this winter

This handy guide from the NHS in Sefton and West Lancashire will help you access the right health advice and treatment over the holiday period.

During the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic health services continue to be there for you but how you access them may be different – contacting them first by telephone or online for example. This is to keep you and their staff safe. You will find details of these changes and what they mean for you throughout this guide.

Please remember, we all need to protect ourselves and others so:

- Wash your hands - keep washing your hands regularly
- Cover your face - wear a face covering in enclosed spaces
- Make space - stay at least 2 metres apart, or 1 metre with a face covering or other precaution

Message from Dr Peter Gregory:

Dr Peter Gregory
Chair at the West Lancashire Partnership

Dr Peter Gregory is reminding us all to remain careful as we prepare to enjoy Christmas under the Government's relaxed coronavirus rules that will be in place from Wednesday 23 to Sunday 27 December.

"While most of us will be taking a well-earned break over the Christmas period, I can assure you that COVID-19 won't, so please remain really careful.

"It won't be coming down the chimney, but it will find its way into our homes if we give it a chance. It might arrive with our friends or relatives or if it's got here already, it may leave with them. And nobody will know until it's too late.

"The rules mean we can form a 'Christmas Bubble' made up from people from three households and can travel between tiers and UK nations to meet our Bubble - but it is important we don't get carried away with festive fizz and let our guard down.

"We all need to carry on socially distancing, washing our hands frequently and regularly cleaning touch points such as door handles and surfaces.

"So, I would urge you to keep you and your loved ones safe and I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

You can find all you need to know about the Government's response to coronavirus - from Christmas rules in full and regular restrictions in Sefton, to COVID-19 testing and links to guidance for residents, businesses and organisations - by visiting www.gov.uk/coronavirus

Keep this guide in a safe place. It will help you be prepared for whatever winter has in store...
